In such notice the Bank is entitled also – in addition to the appropriate modification of the Margin – to specify such alternative rate for the given Indebtedness that (in the Banks opinion): (i) is generally accepted in the relevant loan markets as the appropriate successor to that Reference Interest Rate; or (ii) is otherwise an appropriate successor to that Reference Interest Rate. If the lowest value of the replaced Reference Interest Rate according to the General Lending Conditions is 0% then the lowest value of the alternative rate cannot be less than 0%.

4. Value date / booking date

Value date is the day which is considered as interest calculation in case of payment transaction.

Booking date is the day when the booking of the payment transaction is actually happened according to the payment order. 5. When submitting foreign currency transfer orders or HUF transfers abroad via CitiDirect or on paper, please pay attention to the following (except for SEPA payment orders):

Charges Indicator field: Please select the appropriate option, in accordance with the following:

OUR (= from our account): The total charges related to the transfer, i.e. Bank's charges as well as those of the beneficiary's bank are to be debited from your designated account. For a determined fee debited at the initiation of transfer, Bank bears all further charges incurred related to the transfer. In case foreign currency transfer within EEA States, OUR charge option cannot be applied.

BEN (= beneficiary): The beneficiary is to bear all charges on both sides related to the transfer including the charges applied by the beneficiary bank as well. In this case, the transfer is executed as follows: the Bank's charges are deducted from the amount of the transfer, which means the beneficiary receives the amount of the transfer less the amount of the charges. In case foreign currency transfer within EEA States, beneficiary charge option (BEN) cannot be accepted by the Bank. Charges and fees occurred on the Bank side will be debited on the Bank's Customer account as if transaction was initiated with shared (SHA) charge option.

SHA (= shared): Besides the amount of the transfer, only the Bank's charges will be debited from your designated account, and the charges of the beneficiary's bank will be borne by the beneficiary. In case foreign currency transfer within EEA States, the shared (SHA) charge option can only be applied. If the Customer does not mark the required charge option, the Bank will apply SHA to the item.

Even if the foreign bank charges are to be paid - based on the orders of the remitter - by the beneficiary, the beneficiary's bank might charge the foreign bank charges back to the remitter. This is particularly liable to happen in case of transfers below USD 100. In these cases the charges are debited by the Bank to the remitter's account.

6. Processing of foreign currency funds transfers and incoming items with conversion and foreign currency cash deposits and withdrawals

6.1 Foreign currency exchange rate applied in respect of foreign currency transfers (including SEPA transfers) and credits that require conversion between currencies outside EEA states

For those transactions which require FX conversion the Bank will apply a so called commercial exchange rate quoted around 14:30 on each banking business day for the instructions submitted on that day irrespective of the transaction amount.

The Bank can only guarantee these rates if the foreign currency transfer order:

- I. arrives to the Bank before cut-off time for processing;
- II. has sufficient coverage on the account of the Customer;
- III. complies with the conditions defined under points II/1.1.

In case of foreign currency transfer orders received after the final cut-off time, the Bank executes the transactions using the actual exchange rate available on the market, if the Customer instructs accordingly. This exchange rate might differ from the published exchange rate of the Bank. In the case of orders received after the final cut-off time, the Bank will do its best to process the order the same day, but it cannot guarantee that it will be fulfilled even if the Customer submitted the item properly and if coverage is available. In order to ensure the safe and smooth processing of Customer orders, the Bank has the right to refuse requests for the extension of cut-off times for submission.

6.2 Foreign currency exchange rates applied in respect of foreign currency credits (including SEPA credits) that require conversion between currencies of EEA states (in compliance with the recommendations of the National Bank of Hungary) below USD 10.000 or equivalent amount:
